Hi ,

Libertarians Win - Court orders Libertarian candidate to be on ballot

Last week the party took legal action to bring attention to an unfair election law that prevented the party from filling a candidate vacancy. The court ordered Sean Vadney to be placed on the November ballot as the Libertarian candidate for Secretary of State.

The case was about the timing of when a candidate withdraws and when a party can fill a vacancy. The court applied Colorado's "substantial compliance" standard, concluding that the Party's actions satisfied the requirements of the Election Code despite the timing of the candidate's withdrawal. The court also concluded that the one-day delay in the withdrawal did not prevent the Secretary of State's office from carrying out its statutory duties related to preparing the ballot.

Congratulations to Sean Vadney, the LPCO Vacancy Committee, Nick Sarwark (attorney and sustaining LPCO member), Joe Johnson (Campaigns Director), and everyone who stepped up to make sure Libertarian voters will have a candidate to vote for in November.

Don Vermillion campaign was in State Fair Parade

Donald Vermillion (House District 62) and fellow Libertarians were in the State Fair parade in Pueblo. Those who participated had a great time. The LPCO will strongly consider having an entry in the State Fair parade next year.
