Cah,

38 wins, and counting!

One week after Election Day, the Libertarian Party is celebrating our wins. We have at least 38 newly elected Libertarians across the country, and we're still counting. Congratulations to our candidates, volunteers, and affiliates who worked hard to gain these wins. Special congratulations to Pennsylvania who added 21 newly elected officials in their state. We counted wins in New York, North Carolina, Indiana, Ohio, Montana, Washington, and Illinois.

Please lend support and congratulations to our newly elected officials by reaching out to them, offering assistance, and sharing positive comments at their public meetings. While campaigning may seem like the hardest thing our members do, governing with a Libertarian spirit can be even more challenging, especially for newcomers.

Please also support our party's candidate support initiatives so we can increase the number of elected Libertarians across the country in 2024 by providing essential resources like Voter Gravity, candidate websites and campaign literature. Your support is critical for our success in 2024.
