We are all very proud of Oxnard Councilman Aaron Starr.*And I'm proud to call Aaron a friend.

As one of our higher-ranking elected Libertarians, Aaron Starr serves nearly 200,000 residents in Oxnard, California – the 127th largest city in the country.

Aaron publicly expresses bold libertarian stands, often voting opposite his six colleagues on the Oxnard City Council ... and explaining to a televised audience the moral and practical case for liberty.

- Recognizing taxation is theft, Aaron is the only councilman who refuses compensation for his service ... declining almost $100,000 in pay over his term of office.
- Aaron consistently votes against unaffordable pay raises for city employees... irritating the city's public employee unions.
- Aaron has been exposing corruption – such as the city manager steering tens of millions of taxpayer dollars to a non-profit entity... while serving on its advisory council.

- Aaron is even suing the city manager and city attorney – on behalf of the City! – to recover unlawful spending they authorized.

Being a principled Libertarian creates enemies.

Now, city hall political insiders are attempting to recall Aaron from office...

because he is a Libertarian!

... and because Aaron is supporting three candidates to achieve a majority on the council this November.

Recall proponents have even created this attack video using footage from our most recent national convention:

Aaron Starr has been a fixture in our party for decades... serving as a delegate to every national convention since 1989.

Aaron is the recipient of the Libertarian Party's prestigious Samuel Adams Award and Benjamin Franklin Award.

Aaron Starr has always stepped up for us – serving as state chair, on the national committee, and even as national treasurer.

Now, it's time for us Libertarians to step up for him.

Help Aaron fight this phony recall and achieve a city council majority in one of America's largest cities.
