I have pleasure in presenting our enlarged catalogue for 1992 including many new additions to the range.

As usual dinosaur products feature prominently, and we are confident you will share our enthusiasm for the new Super Lords and Supercrafts on the replica dinosaur pages.

The re-emergence of the Timpo brand has been welcomed by those who remember the great popularity of plastic figures in the 1970s, and a new generation is now discovering the attractions of this excellent range.

I would like to thank all our customers for their valued support over the past year, and I hope we may look forward to supplying you again in 1992.

Yours sincerely,

Richard Morris

The Carnegie Collection

No. 410
Diplodocus
Late Jurassic
78-90 feet (45 metres)
15 tons

Scale: 1:40
Model: 24" (60cm) long

The original models were sculpted under the guidance of the paleontologists of the Carnegie Museum of Natural History. A complicated and demanding task that was two years in the making. Each of these replicas is exactly to scale, the same size in proportion to each other as when the actual creatures roamed the earth. Every detail is scientifically accurate. Not just figments of the imagination, these replicas are a window into a world that was. Not merely toys...but an unusual selection of hand-painted replicas that will stand the test of time.

ACTION FIGURES (READY TO PAINT)

The Timpo Action Figure range was first produced in the early 1970s and is now achieving the same popularity as 20 years ago. The figures are available in a variety of poses and appeal both to the youngster who 'wants to play soldiers' as well as to the modeller who can paint the figures with spectacular results. Also very popular with wargamers.

Timpo Action Figures are supplied either in window boxes containing ten figures, or in polybags in a counter display.
